

THE MOREHEAD
NORMAL SCHOOL

Sept. 10, 1906

The next session of the Morehead Normal School will begin on Monday September 10, 1906.

A New Dormitory.

A new dormitory for young men will be ready for occupancy at the opening of school. It is a substantial frame building of two stories and a basement, and contains twenty rooms. The rooms are large and well lighted and exceedingly attractive and desirable. The building is heated by a furnace and lighted by electricity.

Hodson Hall Enlarged.

During the summer a considerable addition has been made to Hodson Hall, the dormitory for young ladies. In the addition there is a basement to be used as a laundry room, a large annex to the dining room and students rooms overhead. These improvements will make it possible to receive more young ladies as boarders and will make better accommodations for them.

Other Improvements.

Numerous other improvements have been made. Tiling has been put in, and ditches filled up, adding greatly to the beauty of the campus. A large coal house and store room has been erected in the rear of Hodson Hall. School rooms have been painted and re-papered. All things will be in readiness at the opening of school.

The School Equipment.

Not many schools in Eastern Kentucky have such splendid grounds and buildings as the Morehead Normal School. The school campus contains about 75 acres, and is the site of six buildings occupied by the teachers and students. The main school building contains five classrooms and a library. Burgess Hall contains the large assembly room with a seating capacity of 500. Hodson Hall is the home for young ladies and will accommodate seventy-five or eighty. The dormitory for young men will accommodate seventy-five. All of these dormitories are in charge of teachers who reside in them and have the oversight of the boarders.

Bible Teaching.

A new and valuable feature of the school work is the opportunity now afforded for systematic and sustained Bible instruction. This department is in charge of W. F. Smith who is one of the foremost Bible teachers in the state. This work begun last term, has already made a large place for itself, enlisting the interest of some of the best students in Bible study. Here is a splendid opportunity to secure that knowledge of the Bible so indispensable to the educated man or woman.

No Changes in Faculty.

The faculty remains as it was during the past term, no changes having been made. There are eight instructors in all departments, and some tutoring is done by advanced pupils. These teachers are graduates of leading schools and colleges and are thoroughly experienced and trained for their work. The student may be assured of finding at this school the instruction of which he is in search, whether it be along Literary, Collegiate, Biblical, Normal, Musical or Business lines.

Expenses.

The matter of expense is a very important one for most students. Here again our advantages are specially good. Rooms in dormitories are furnished to students free of charge. Board costs $2 per week, and tuition ranges from $1 to $2 per month. Other expenses may be kept at a minimum figure by economy.

A Final Word.

You are cordially urged to consider the advantages of the Morehead Normal School as an educational institution. Its long and honorable record in the past will bear out the statement that it is a great power for advancement in education. Parents with children to educate are instructed to visit the school and to put the children in our care. Students desiring to increase their education and to fit themselves for high fields of usefulness are recommended to come to Morehead and to become members of an enrollment of 400 pupils, a figure which we shall surely reach during the session of 1906—1907.
